

The WI have got it covered

Glen Insurance are now the Newly appointed Insurance Brokers to the National Federation of Women's Institutes

From cars to cakes we offer the complete package!

People have a funny way of reporting their predicaments, as the experts at Glen Insurance know only too well.

Whether by accident or design, many motorists struggle to explain what happened. You couldn't make it up is how some of today's acerbic commentators view life – and the way accident claim forms are filled in seems to bear out their opinion. Witness these hilarious examples:

"I pulled into a lay-by with smoke coming from under the bonnet. I realised the car was on fire so took my dog and smothered it with a blanket."

"I collided with a stationary truck coming the other way."

"The other car collided with mine without giving any warning of its intention."

"Cow wandered into my car. I was afterwards informed the cow was half-witted."

They are used to this sort of unintentional wit at Glen Insurance, who have been trading at the corner of Richmond Road and Kingsland Road, Dalston, London, for more than 50 years and have offices at 60 Lombard Street in the City of London and at 25 Palmerston Place, Edinburgh.

The Glen Insurance team are experts at getting customers out of a jam, which might explain why they are the preferred Insurance Brokers to the NFWI. We provide advice to members on a wide range of issues such as finding appropriate cover for their events and stalls, employers' liability, even selling their preserves and home produce.

A new challenge for the company's highly trained and experienced account managers is how women's insurance will be affected by the ruling from the European Court of Justice which means that insurance companies can no longer give lower insurance premiums to women. The decision, which comes into effect on 21 December 2012, means that women can no longer be given different car insurance premiums to men, based on gender alone. The decision also has implications on the cost of buying an pensions annuity.

The company's unsurpassed knowledge and completely independent advice means they can offer a wide range of products and offer the best deals by close analysis of the risks and the appropriate cover required.
